THE MEANEST EDITOR.

A man died owing a Missouri editor six years' unpaid subscription to the paper. The editor did not send any flowers. He attended the funeral and placed a palm-leaf and a block of ice on the casket.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

When an old Colored brother was asked the other day what three things he wished most for in these trying times, quickly replied: Harding, Hyde and heaven. Amen brother amen.

The Editor and wife had the rare pleasure of being the possessor of a night blooming cereus which bloomed last Tuesday night. Many neighbors and friends were present to witness its unfolding which was really beautiful, exuding the most exquisite perfume and closing again at 12:00 o'clock.

That the Colored brother is determined to do his share in the redemption of America from Democratic misrule and the threatening league of Nations is evidenced on every hand by the earnestness and determination being demonstrated by the rank and file of the race. No President in the United States ever received the number of Negro votes that will be given Warren G. Harding by our racial group as the next President of the United States.

Jeff's Cherry pies 80c.

The Nation-wide opening of the Republican Campaign on September 22, Emancipation Day will witness the greatest demonstration on the part of the Colored people ever undertaken in America. More than 100 speakers of color will speak under the auspices of the National Republican Committee in various cities of the country. Kansas City will contribute her quota of orators for the occasion with the following assignments: Nelson C. Crews, Toledo, O.; W. C. Houston, Lexington, Ky.; Charles H. Calloway, Loganport, Ind.; Willis G. Moseley, Zanesville, O.; J. Silas Harris, Akron, O.

Jeff's Apple pies 60c.

Kansas City is to be honored on September 22nd, Emancipation Day by having as orator at the opening of the campaign among our people one whom the Editor of the Sun regards as the most brilliant, polished and convincing orator of the race, in the person of Hon. Charles A. Cottrell of Toledo, O. Collector of Customs in Hawaii under the Taft administration. Those who have heard Mr. Cottrell testify to the truthfulness of this statement. And the managers of the campaign in this state and city should make special effort to see that he has an audience of not less than 4,000 people to hear him tell "THE STORY OF A RACE" and the reasons why Harding and Coolidge are the hope of the black men of America. Be sure and hear him.

JEFF'S LUNCH.

Attracts Attention From Metropolitan Daily.

"A prosperous Colored restaurateur has adopted what is in Kansas City a decided innovation. His patrons are notified the restaurant will hereafter close every Monday until further notice. The restaurateur says he and his employees must have one day rest and it would be manifestly unfair to his patrons to close on Sunday, a day when many of his patrons make arrangements to take their meals at his place." Mid-west Hotel Reporter, Omaha, Neb.

Of such importance has Mr. Jefferson's business become in this community that it has attracted the attention of the leading white caterers in this city and Monday he received a formal invitation to go on the Restaurant Men's Special to Cleveland, O., where a Convention will be held October 1-23. The party enroute will stop at Chicago before going to Cleveland. Mr. Jefferson expects to accept if he can arrange to spare the time from his business. This only proves that if the Colored man applies intensive and up-to-date methods to his business he will receive the treatment and be accorded the same courtesy as other successful men in his special line of endeavor. The Sun congratulates Mr. Jefferson on his remarkable success.

THEY SAY

—That a group of men were discussing over the luncheon table, the purchasing power of money. One of them, especially, waxed eloquent upon the subject. "There is nothing money will not buy," he said positively. One man took exception to this statement. "Money will not buy health," he asserted.

"Wrong!" said the first. "There is many a poor man or woman who, if they had money to pay for proper treatment, would quickly regain their health. In many instances, money will buy health."

"Wrong again." In rare instances money will not buy happiness, but in the majority of cases yes. The possession of money means time for rest, recreation, study, travel, many things all of which give happiness. "I'll tell you," leaning across the table earnestly. "Write it down, if you can find them, four things that money will not really buy, and for each one I will give you a thousand dollars."

The next day at luncheon the one who was challenged handed the other a slip of paper. After reading it the man without a quibble handed his friend four $1,000 bills. This is what was written on the paper:

1. A Baby's Smile—A baby's smile can never be purchased by offering it money. To the soul that has so late come from the place of the unborn, the means of exchange of this world offers no appeal. A mother's kiss, a father's caress, a flower, a bright colored toy, may win a baby's smile, but you cannot bargain for that smile with gold.

2. Youth, When It Has Gone—The mill will never grind with the water that has passed. The flush of youth, the luster of the eyes of a boy in his teens, the carefree happiness of the maiden, when the years have brought maturity, can never come again. Ponce de Leon in his quest for the spring of eternal youth realized that fact. He knew that youth, once gone, could never be bought again. Money will not purchase its return, even if heaped in piles of millions, and the spring for which the knight so delicately searched to insure against the ravages of time was never discovered.

3. The Love of a Good Woman—Love, like a baby's smile, cannot be bought with gold. Many a woman has stimulated love for a dour with a husband thrown in, and practiced the deception successfully for years, but true love of the kind which lasts eternally, cannot be purchased. The love of a pure woman is held by her as the most sacred gift which she can bestow. It is not to be thought with gold, or silver, or precious stones. It is given freely to the man she loves.

4. Entrance Into Heaven—There is an old saying that "shrouds have no pockets." Money, which will purchase nearly everything in this world, cannot be taken to the next and used as a means of entrance into heaven. The keeper of the portals of the heavenly city is not susceptible to a bribe. There, at least, money has no value.
